

About the dyke who started STONEWALL (July/Aug Article): The San Francisco Examiner recently ran a series called "Gay In America." One Stonewall veteran interviewed said he wanted to set the record "straight" - the riots started when a dyke dressed in a black leather "men's suit" was arrested by cops for "cross-dressing." They shoved her and she said, "Hey, not so rough." Cops hit her over the head with a nightstick, drag queens freaked at this brutality, and the riots started.
