

Dear Lou

3-8-88

I'm awaiting Sears to deliver my new queen sized mattress which I have needed for over 6 months but could not afford due to not receiving my tenants rent, having the place empty & now the while I repaired & cleaned. But she is paying up her back rent very slowly now. I have not given a dime to any charities nor subscribed to magazines nor joined or renewed organizations - By humbly bearing down I've come thru and now feel much better financially. In a month or so I'll complete the landscape project started last year and should get a big chunk of money out of that by summer.

I've had to stop taking AL 721 analogue as it is make with batter

So my starting to take that in December just worsened the milk allergy caused diarrhea. I will keep trying to get my friend D.A. to start taking it. But he is so polish pighead stubborn. If it isn't his idea, it won't be done by him.

What progress on the bio book a booklet or article, Yours and he's just had breakfast Sat AM at a restaurant which has a trans waitress. I spotted it right off. But if you were not aware of such things it would never cross your mind with her.

I hope that when the catheter comes out Friday I will be able to go on my own and not have to have it put back in a day later. I am truly tired of that tube up the dick. And it can dry out and then sort of stick inside as the thing moves. That hurts. Plus after all this time it is sensitive just due to the tube being there.

I hope you are staying well. It is amazing how fast time flies when you're having fun. It is now 12:30<sup>PM</sup> and I should be at work. I called and told work I was still here awaiting a Morning delivery which the man called about at 11 AM saying he would be here about noon! I'll wait a bit longer than I will just have to leave, I guess. Sears will have to come tomorrow. I always hate dealing with disorganized "working" men and their lazy, hetero, self-centered little worlds unaware of how they mess up others lives.
